ACTIVITY OF THE WEEK – ICEY EXPERIMENTATION

It has been a very chilly week in Tiger Class as we further explored ice and methods to keep warm in cold climates. This week we thought about the clothing Little Red Riding Hood would need to wear if she visited her Granny in the Arctic. The children played with the winter clothing, bundling up for the chilly weather.

In our Ice Melting Experiment, Mikaeel said, 'The ice is freezing my hands!' The children made predictions of which material would melt the ice quickest. We used salt, sugar, cotton wool, water and the heat from our hands. Elijah said, 'I think the water will melt more faster than the sugar.' After some time the children came back to see what material melted the ice. Srikrithi observed that 'The cotton wool isn't making the ice melt very much.'

The children explored different ways of painting and mixing colours with the ice. Monica enjoyed using the ice paint to mix red and yellow to make orange. While she painted, she slid the paint block in circles and exclaimed, 'It is slipping!' While painting ice blocks Anvit remarked, 'The paint is freezing on the ice! It is very cold!'

UPDATES FROM SARAH JANE

I was delighted to spend the afternoon making scones with the children, which we all enjoyed together at the end of the day. I promised the children I would send you the recipe, so here it is! I am sure they will enjoy showing you how to recreate these yummy treats at home. Have a lovely weekend.

Ingredients

- 350g self-raising flour
- ¼ tsp salt
- 1 tsp baking powder
- 85g butter, cubed
- 3 tbsp caster sugar
- 175ml milk
- 1 tsp vanilla extract
- lemon juice (a splash)
- 1 egg (to glaze), beaten

Method

Ask your child how much they can remember – if they get stuck, follow this link and read through the 'Method' tab.

LOCAL AUTHORITY FAMILY SERVICES

Tower Hamlets' Children and Family Centres host many invaluable events every week. Please see their weekly timetable to find out what events may be useful to you.

Congratulations again to last week's stars, Maria and Dawud

STAR OF THE WEEK

This week's stars in Tiger Class are:

★ Elijah

For trying his best during Phonics and during his writing activities.

★ Malcolm

For using his problem-solving skills to ask for help when he needs it.

In recognition, both will receive a certificate and a tiger to take home for two days. Elijah and Malcolm will teach the tigers how to count up and down from 10, and will bring in mystery objects for the class to discuss next week.
